A teenage girl was driving to starbucks where she got a pink drink and a croissant.

After Starbucks, she went to Target and got a cute summer dress.

And she looked for this body wash that she needed to restock on but they didn't have it. So, she left that Target and went to a different Target.

As she was walking out sad, in the corner of her eye, she saw the body wash that she needed.

And then she went home and saw that it was her little brother's birthday so then they went to his favorite restaurant.

The end
