

Glimmer the Duck

Glimmer the duck's backstory

When Glimmer was young, his mother, Daisy and his father, Jack cared and loved him. However that all changed when his dad said, "gotta get the worms. I'll be right back. Bye Bye." But little did they know.. he never returned.... again.... TO BE CONTINUED...

Part 2

The ducks waved, as he headed towards the pond, "Bye Daddy!" chirpped Glimmer. "Bye guys, also im going different side of the pond. There's a lot of worms, and when I come back we'll have a feast!" The dad confidently said.

Part 3

Many days go by and the father never returned. The mother duck got worried, and said something to Glimmer, "We have to look for your Dad." Glimmer chirped in agreement, "Yeah!" The 2 ducks waddled towards the pond, and swam to the other side of the area. They found no remembrance but his feather and a female duck's feather. A tear formed in Daisy's eyes, "Glimmer- your father left us..." she stammered. "To get worms?" Glimmer chirped. "No- to... find you another mommy..." Daisy softly said, as a tear rolled down her cheek.

Part 4

Daisy sighed and looked up, "Come on Glimmer, lets go home." Glimmer nodded and tagged along his mother, only to get lost mid-way. "Mom? Where are you? Mom?" Glimmer nervously peeped. He got no response. Just then, a rustle from the grass came behind him. Glimmer turned around, thinking it was his mother but he was wrong. A net emerged from the tall grass, and trapped Glimmer. "Ah!" Glimmer squealed, moving the net with his wings. A mysterious person approached the miserable chick and took him to a plane.

Part 5

Many months pass, and Glimmer becomes an adult. He got shipped to California in the USA. "What is this place?" Glimmer thought, eyeing the city. Just then, a mysterious person took him in his house. He read a tag around Glimmer's neck, and threw him outside his house, realizing he was not the bird he ordered.

Part 6

Glimmer landed with a "THUD" sound. He got up, shaking his feathers. "What was all that fuss about?" he thought, looking towards the man's house. The moon rose, Glimmer knew that he needed a place to sleep, so he waddled acrosss the road. Just, then he spotted a unique building.....

Part 7

Glimmer waddled towards the building in fascination. Lights beamed against his feathers, and he spotted a brown duck along the way. "Hey there!" The stranger said. "Um- Hey!" Glimmer replied. "Welcome to the Salvation Army, everyone is welcome here, including us" The stranger said. He then offered a place to sleep in. Glimmer agreed.

Part 8

Glimmer woke up and was surrounded by 4 girls. He got up, and shook some dust off his feathers. One girl patted his head and another picked him up. The rest of the 2 started combing or petting him. Glimmer felt confused at first, but he realized it was love.

Part 9

After a long day of being cared for, Glimmer sat down and slept. Just then, a mysterious person picked him up and carried him to a dark, unknown hallway. Many days pass and Glimmer was not heard for a few weeks. Eventually he got released and he spotted his mother and his new siblings. Tears rolled down his cheeks, as he hugged his mother

Our Floops

