A red ant named John found a hamburger near a rock. This ignited his love for adventure, so he wanted to explore more.

His next adventure was at a park. There were lots of kids that tried to step on him!

John fought back and stung one of the kids, which scared off the kid's friends.

He then found a hot dog but there was a spider guarding the hot dog. Luckily, John's friends are coming to help.

His friends come and beat the spider to get the hotdog for the queen ant.

They returned, with the hot dog, to the queen. Luckily, it was nighttime so no one would step on them. They brought the hot dog home and had a feast.
